WILL WOMAN BE SUPREME?

Prophets Declare That Men Are Destroying Themselves by Many Bad Habits.

It is becoming fashionable to wall about the physical shortcomings of modern men, and to predict that in the near future women will surpass their brothers in bodily strength. Sometimes this prophecy is based on evolution. More often the prophets declare that men are destroying themselves by bad habits, and that women, who lead more cleanly lives, will inherit the strength of the earth.

Such predictions are nonsense, of course. But they have this much of foundation, that the habits of men and boys are less conducive to health and strength than those of women and girls. Smoking during the period of growth is bad for persons of either sex; but in this country, at least, few girls in their teens have anything to do with tobacco. Liquor drinking at the same period tends to stunt growth, and more boys drink than girls.

The practical result of these prophesies of war will be to spread good physical habits, without relation to sex. In spite of their long residence side by side, men and women still have something to learn from each other.

Women began their learning first. They have opened windows, claimed their share of fresh air, and taken part in athletics. If men are now moved to turn to curb their desire for stimulants and narcotics, at least until the period of growth is finished, the race will be wiser.

Records in Writing.

"Michael Fairless," according to her biographer, wrote her masterpiece, "The Road Mender," in nine days. A remarkable feat, but by no means a record, for did not Johnson write "Rascals"--a book of about similar length to "The Road Mender"--in the evenings of a single week, and Dumas undertook, for a bet, to write a first volume of the "Chevalier de la Maison Rouge," to consist of 50,000 words, in 72 hours, and won with six hours to spare! Among modern writers Sir Arthur Wing Pinero turned out his play, "Two Hundred a Year" in a single afternoon. On the other hand, it took Gray years and years to write his elegy. So you cannot set the record of time and achievement.--London Chronicle.

Why Clocks Get Out of Order.

The reason why mantelpiece clocks so often get out of order is so obvious that it is strange that attention to it has not been drawn before. A London clockmaker said:

"It is because mantelpieces are rarely level. If a clock meant for a mantelpiece is not placed in an exactly horizontal position it is sure to go wrong. When the clock gains or loses because of its slanting position, people regularly move the hands forward or backward, as the case may be, in order to adjust it. Eventually the clock's hands are moved about so much that the mechanism gets out of order and the clock refuses even to tick."

Last Works of Great Composers.

It is curious how the great composers of opera have turned their attention to religion at the end of their careers. The last work of Wagner, "Parsifal," though a "music drama," is a work of decidedly religious import. Mozart's last, and perhaps greatest work was a "Requiem." Verdi also completed his career as a composer by writing a "Requiem" of marvellous beauty. Even the frivolous Rossini turned his attention to religious matters, and his last work was the "Stabat Mater."

Knew His Business.

Dick and Jimmy were visiting their grandmother, who spoils them, as all grandmothers will. One night they were saying their prayers, and little Jimmy vociferated his petitions to the heavenly throne in a voice that could be heard a mile away. He was telling the divine Providence what he wanted for Christmas, and this enthusiasm in the cause got on his brother's nerves.

"What are you praying for Christmas presents so loud for?" interrupted Dick. "Th' Lord ain't deaf." "No," whispered Jimmy, "but grandma is."

Lazy.

"He was very lazy," Mr. Perkins, said old Mrs. Jones. "I must say my first husband was a very lazy man."

"How lazy was he?" I asked.

"Well, he was so lazy, Eh, Mr. Jones was so lazy, that he wouldn't shovel a path to the front gate."

"How did he get the path broken out?" I asked.

"Oh, he used to lay on the lounge and pluck the baby's ear with the nippers until the neighbors came rushing in to tread down the snow."--Ell Perkins.

Avoiding the Issue.

Gloom in the law office of Platt & Jones was thick enough to cut. Clients were unknown, and neither of the partners had any ready money. Nevertheless, at the close of day, Jones, who was young and audacious, approached the senior member of the firm, who was working out an imaginary case.

"I say," he began, nervously, "lend me five for a week, old man."

The other shook his head, without looking up. "I might do it for a week old woman," he said, "but not for a weak old man."--Youth's Companion.

"Shadow Tag."

One of the prettiest games for young children to play out of doors is "shadow tag." It can only be played on a sunny day when shadows form plainly.

Tag is played in the usual way, except that the girl who is counted "out" must jump on the shadow of one of the players and at the same time call her name. The youngster whose shadow is stepped upon thereupon becomes "it."

Makes All the Difference.

Teacher--"Now, David, can you tell me what 'Dr.' stands for?" David (aged seven)--"It depends on whether it is before or after a man's name."

MAN MUST DECLARE REASON

Writer Asserts That When Husband Tires of Wife He Should Demand Separation.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one man to dissolve the domestic bands which have connected him with a woman, and to assume among his peers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle him, a decent respect for the opinions of mankind requires that he should declare the causes which impel him to the separation.

All husbands were created equal; their inequality comes from the difference in the respective abilities of their wives. A just regard, therefore, for the feeling of mankind requires that they should be permitted to love something, and if it is no longer interesting and expedient for them to love their wives, then we hold that they are entitled to break loose in manner hereinafter to be determined.
